Fiery Cross Burns Atop Mountain As K. K. K. Inducts New Members

The fiery cross of the Ku Klux Klan burned on Stone Mountain for the first time in 10 years Tuesday night as 50 new members were inducted into the reorganized order which is instituting a national fight against communism and radicalism.

Impressive ceremonies featured by the white robes of the klansmen made a brilliant scene on Stone Mountain, where the Klan was originally organized on Thanksgiving night, 1915.

The flaming cross, symbol of the militant spirit of the klansmen, was 90 feet high and 150 wide on the sheer side of the largest block of granite in the world. The spectacle attracted hundreds of sightseers. Robed, but unmasked klansmen, marched in order up the sloping mountainside and were met at the top by the members who had been administered the oath of allegiance to the United States and its government. A naturalization ritual was then conducted by high officials in completing the induction of the new klansmen.

There ceremony was a highlight of the three-day invocation of the Klan being held here, with 620 state officials representing 25 states in attendance. Leading the naturalization rites was Dr. Hiram W. Evans, of Atlanta, who was recently re-elected for a four-year term, as imperial wizard.

A new national program of combating communism and radicalism was propounded Tuesday night in a statement by M. O. Dunning, chief of staff of the Klan.

Termining the problem of controlling communistic activities in this country a serious one, Dunning said the Klan has prepared legislation which it will seek to have introduced in every state legislature. It is designed to make impossible any action seeking to undermine the constitution of the United States. The Klan, he said, will attempt to build up a national prejudice against communism. State committees to carry out the work with subcommittees in every town will be appointed, he asserted.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 14. (AP)—Four large mail trucks of food, costing $360 in postage, went today, addressed to the Aluminum Company of America at Alcoa.

Because of a strike there, 200 non-union men are marooned in the plants behind picket lines. They stayed inside the mill to care for machinery when it closed. Included in the mail shipment was tooth paste and smoking tobacco. One staff of bananas carried $1.63 worth of stamps and a sack of flour bore 63 cents in stamps.

TENNESSEE G. O. P. EMBRACES FUSION

Withdraw Governor and Senate Candidates To Try To Split Democrats.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 14. (AP)—A fusion between Tennessee republicans and one faction of the democratic party was indosed late tonight by the republican state executive committee for the November election campaign.

The republicans agreed to withdraw their candidates for governor and for the short term in the U. S. senate and to center their efforts on electing Ben W. Hooper, of Newport, to the senate for a six-year term over Senator K. D. McCellar, democrat.

Forces of Lewis S. Pope, defeated August 2 for the democratic nomination for governor, are counted on by the republicans to support Hooper for the senate, the republicans in turn to support Pope or some member of his faction for governor against Governor Hill McAllister, the democratic nominee.

John E. McCall, of Memphis, surrendered his nomination for governor, received in the republican primary of August 2, and Wayne Maddox, of Huntington, withdrew as the nominee for the short senate term leaving Senator Nathan L. Bachman, of Chattanooga, unopposed for election for the remainder of the term.

The republicans state executive committee, after being in session since early afternoon, announced its action shortly before midnight.

LONG FORCES BACK STATE POLICE LAW

Long and Fleming as supplementary to his recent restraining order.

Senator Long came here today from New Orleans where he held the registration office and entered the governor's office in a joking and mock servile mood, at first knocking at Governor Allen's executive doors and then being temporarily "denied" an audience with the governor.

Soon he went into the governor's palatial suite and after a perfunctory formal call was issued for the special session to convene at 10 o'clock tonight and last 12 days.

Will Amend "General Powers." Subjects submitted for consideration dealt largely with amending the "general powers" of the charter of the city of New Orleans and investigating its administration.

Politicians observed the furious whip hand of Long raised over the body as it was plunged into session with the police power of Mayor Walmley seriously threatened and enactment of laws guarding the registration books, taxing and election practices in prospect.

Item 10 in the formal call provided for "any resolution necessary to investigate the government of the city of New Orleans, and the state, district, local and municipal courts therein."

Plank 20 asked for revenue for relief of unemployed and unemployables. Another would amend or reenact laws relating to the militia.

The call was left open for any other subjects which the governor might offer later.

This afternoon, administration leaders said "everything went off smoothly" in a caucus held here by the Long faction members of the legislature.

When asked about the caucus, Sena-

Japanese Prince and Princess Land in U. S., Plan To Visit F. D. R.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14. (AP)—Their imperial highnesses Prince and Princess Kaya, of Japan, arrived in New York today on the S. S. Majestic and felt it a "great honor."

The prince, whose first name is Tsunenori, and his consort Toshiko, were met at quarantine by an imposing delegation of Japanese and American officials. The prince is first cousin to her imperial majesty, the empress of Japan.

A 21-gun salute boomed for them at Fort Jay on Governor's Island as the ship steamed up the bay and they stood upon the bridge of the Majestic to hear it.

The princess wore a large beret of ultra-marine blue, a Shantung sport suit of robin's egg blue with a large dark blue bow at the neck, and white shoes.

A string of pearls and a pearl ring completed her make up.

The prince chatted for a few minutes with Japanese newspapermen in the ship's library and then bowed an invitation to the American reporters, to whom he talked through an interpreter.

He said notes, in Japanese, beneath a table, and directed the interpreter to say:

"We feel it a great honor to have an opportunity to visit the United States which always has been friendly to Japan since the visit of Admiral Perry."

"My stay will be short and that I regret, but Washington I will have the opportunity to see the president and it will be a great pleasure for me to talk personally with the president and other officials of the United States."

"I'll make the most of my short stay and I wish to return to Japan with a happy memory."

He should like to say a word of thanks for the kind reception extended to my party by the department of state."

GUARDSMEN BEAT UP NEWSPAPER REPORTER
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 14. (AP)—National guardsmen off duty in a restaurant attacked M. M. Kresger, reporter of the New Orleans Times-Picayune, and Wilfred D'Aquin, newspaper photographer, tonight when they went to investigate the shooting of a pistol by one of the guardsmen in the restaurant.

Several soldiers jumped on the newspapermen, three of them backing the photographer, an 18-year-old lightweight, against the wall, beating him with their fists while another held the reporter. The soldiers objected to a photograph being taken of the hole in the wall made by the .45 bullet which the soldiers said was fired accidentally.

Police investigated but said they had no authority to make an arrest as the soldiers were under military rule. An officer of the guard said a thorough military investigation would be made.

Heroic Woman Halts Gun Battle in Ireland
CORK, Irish Free State, Aug. 14. (AP)—A woman's heroism was credited today with saving many lives in savage fighting yesterday between 5,000 farmers, enraged by a tax sale, and 300 civil guards.

Mrs. Eamonn O'Neill, wife of a member of the dail, rushed between the combatants, risking her life in heavy gunfire, and pleaded with them to stop. Both farmers and officers ceased shooting, fearing they would hit her.

The woman then helped Jeremiah Lynch, critically wounded farmer, outside a yard where the battle took place. Lynch later died. More than 100 others were injured.

The farmers had attacked the guards, surrounding the yard where cattle taken from two farmers who did not pay land taxes were to be sold.

Snake-Bitten Preacher Gets Offers For Revivals in All Parts of U. S.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 14. (AP)—The rattlesnake evangelist, Albert Teester, came to town today, got his picture taken, spoke to the nation by radio, and told reporters of the "divine message" he received 14 months ago to "scatter the Word of God."

The 39-year-old former lumberman appeared in Charlotte, some 200 miles from the fastness of his native mountains, with his right hand and arm still swollen and mottled from the venom of a five-foot rattlesnake which he let sink its fangs into him 10 days ago to test his faith.

The self-ordained preacher met reporters in a downtown office building. Clad in rumpled blue serge trousers, tieless and coatless, and a stubble of white beard on his face, he answered all questions freely, but was interrupted time and again by telephone calls from all parts of the country asking him to conduct revival services.

"Would you let a rattlesnake bite you again?" someone asked.

"Not unless the Lord told me to do it. If He told me to do it again, I'd do it. But unless He told me, all the people in the world couldn't make me."

"And you didn't see a doctor after the snake bit you?"

"No—I do not believe in doctors. I trust only in the greatest doctor of them all—Jesus Christ."

Preacher Teester came down from the western Carolina mountains accompanied by the Rev. E. D. Hopkins, pastor of the Calvary Church of God, and said they would get a doctor. But my voice came to me and I said, 'no, a thousand times no.' If God wanted me to die, I would die. But God wants me to keep on scattering His word, so all the world can hear."

China Executes Five
TIENTSIN, China, Aug. 14. (AP)—China executed five today for the murder of Dr. J. H. Ingram, 37-year-old American missionary, by bandits two months ago, when the provincial government executed five Chinese convicted of the crime.

Dr. Ingram was shot to death in his summer bungalow outside Peiping as he sought to protect his wife and grandchildren from a band of robbers which entered the house late at night.

The national government at Nanking pressed a search for the slayers of Dr. Ingram, a medical missionary who had spent 50 years in China and was often called "China's best foreign friend."

"GHOST" ASSISTS NEGRO IN SCALING 12-FOOT JAIL WALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 14. (AP)—The "Big House" was haunted and there was no unpleasant than ever a prison could be.

Consequently, William Pope, 18-year-old negro, of 306 King street, Manhattan, declared today in the police lineup, he was able to escape from the Windsor, Ontario, jail which is quite a feat.

Pope was extradited from Canada on a burglary charge. He said that during his short stay in the Windsor jail he saw another prisoner named Watson, a body of the prisoner was buried under a cell window.

This made the situation unbearable, he declared, what with the ghost of the dead prisoner sharing his cell with him, and during an exercise period he scaled a 12-foot wall and escaped.

He could not explain how he got over the wall, although, he felt certain, his fear of ghosts was a big help.

"All I know is my legs took me," he said.

Pope was recaptured while swimming the Detroit river.

Mary Pickford Reveals Plans For Conference With Doug Fairbanks

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Mary Pickford, America's sweetheart, came home today from Chicago and disclosed she soon will confer with her estranged husband, Douglas Fairbanks.

But concerning the nature of the conference and the possibilities of a reconciliation with Fairbanks, the athletically-inclined screen star from who she separated more than a year ago, Mary Pickford would only say: "I predict I shall have even less to say following the conference with Mr. Fairbanks than I have now."

Fairbanks is en route to New York from Europe on the Italian liner Rex. Miss Pickford said he will fly from New York to Denver to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Fairbanks, who died recently in Los Angeles. Then he will proceed to Hollywood.

Hollywood was agog at news of the pending conference between the two members of the film capital's foremost family. Many observers shook their heads sagely, however, and pointed to the fact an affidavit was filed in superior court here a few days ago stating Miss Pickford has obtained service by publication in her divorce suit against Fairbanks.

Maybe it's a reconciliation, they commented, "but, on the other hand, such things as property settlements preceding divorce actions quite often are discussed at conferences."

Miss Pickford and Fairbanks have extensive property holdings here, much of which was acquired since their marriage in 1920.

The actress' divorce suit was filed before the names of Fairbanks and Lady Ashley were linked in a London romance.

Clad in a charming traveling ensemble of blue and white printed triple sheer with white collars and cuffs of ruche, Miss Pickford left her train at Pasadena.

The auto-graph-seekers outgassed her, however, and a large crowd of early-risers was on hand at the station. Several of Miss Pickford's relatives also met her.

The actress declined to discuss her domestic affairs.

"I feel the less said about the entire matter, the better," she said. "In fact, I regret the public has seen fit to become so highly interested in the matter."

Miss Pickford said she had a telephone conversation with her estranged husband before she left Chicago and while he was in Paris. She talked also, she said, with Fairbanks' brother, Bob, and Joseph M. Schenck, the motion picture producer who is returning home on the same boat with the actor.

She declined to divulge the nature of the conversations.

BOARD WILL RETIRE COUCH SCHOOL HEAD

Retirement of Miss Mamie L. Pitts, principal of the Couch school, because of physical disabilities, will be made the order of a special meeting of the Atlanta board of education to be called by J. Ira Harrelson, president, in about two weeks, under action of the board Tuesday afternoon.

The board also voted to lay corporation to school annexes and additions made possible through activities of the federal government on September 15-14. Letters thanking Congressman Robert Hamsbeck for his aid in obtaining governmental cooperation in allocations for purchase of materials, and to council members who aided also were ordered.

Purchase of a lot for the Regal school at a cost of $1,000 was voted. Walter Cooper's History of Fulton county will be made a part of the school curriculum in accordance with a board decision.

Ernest Brewer, tenth ward commissioner, announced that civic leaders and parent-teacher officials will discuss the proposed school referendum at a meeting to be held at 10:30 o'clock August 21 at 74 Whitehall street. The referendum asks views of voters in divorcing schools from council or placing them directly under council as are other city departments.

PEEBISCITE URGES IN TRUCK STRIKE

Aluminum Officials and Labor Representatives May Meet in Capital.

By the Associated Press.

Exploring the high cost of military rule in Minneapolis during the truckmen's strike, which the committee estimated as already more than $400,000, the Minneapolis protective committee urged President Roosevelt by telegram Tuesday, of the necessity for an election to determine employees' representation.

The committee respectfully demanded that federal mediators call such an election. The employers' advisory committee, discussing the strikers' refusal of the latest settlement offer, commented: "We think the rejection of these proposals which were accepted as fair by the mediators confirms the employers' contention the strike leaders do not want to settle the strike."

Truckmen at Portland, Ore., were voting on a proposal to submit issues of their strike to arbitration.

Aluminum Company of America officials and representatives of their striking employees may be brought together at Washington by labor department Tuesday that a general conference could be arranged, peaceful picketing meanwhile continued at the six plants shut for three days.

The Greer Steel Company plant at Dover, Ohio, shut down after pickets threw bricks through the windshield of a car, injuring a company guard, and damaged two other automobiles hearing guards. The 250 employees walked out Monday, charging discrimination in re-employment of union men when the plant reopened recently.

Philadelphia police held three men in jail after finding 32 sticks of dynamite in the home of one. The police said the men were striking employees of the Gulf Refining Company and suspected a plot to destroy a Gulf company plant in South Philadelphia.

Fifty armed guards patrolled the plant of Lever Brothers Coal Company at Hammond, Ind., shut down Monday after strikebreakers crashed a picket line. The Hammond mayor said he would seek federal mediation, but the company has refused it.

Charging that pickets had broken windows and hurled stench bombs, the Consumers Sanitary Office petitioned Tuesday for an injunction to restrain bakery union members for picketing their stores in Chicago.

'Widowed' by Bridge, Hardisty Suit Charges

Charging that her husband remained away from home frequently for long times at card parties and bridge tournaments, Mrs. Mildred H. Hardisty filed suit Tuesday in Fulton superior court asking a divorce from John T. Hardisty, well-known Atlanta bridge player.

Mrs. Hardisty further alleges that her husband manifested no concern for the welfare of herself and her minor children and was guilty of cruel treatment, on one occasion striking her with his fists. She asks custody of the child and alimony for his support.

BEST FOODS OPENS SOUTHERN DIVISION

That Atlanta is the established business capital of the south, was evidenced again today with the arrival of Palmer W. Schade, vice president of The Best Foods, Incorporated.

PALMER W. SCHADE.

Mr. Schade, who comes to head the newly-created southern division here, Mr. Schade, who transfers his headquarters from New York to Atlanta, will become general manager of the greatly enlarged sales and distribution territory. With Atlanta the focal point, he embraces the following states: North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas.

One of the major food organizations of the nation, The Best Foods, Incorporated, credits this expansion to its rapidly growing business in the south, according to Mr. Schade.

"The southern states, a major food market of the nation, have accorded The Best Foods, Incorporated, the largest volume of business for the first six months of its history. From this territory it is any similar period in recent years. To serve this area most effectively, we have selected Atlanta as the focal point of our expansion program," stated Mr. Schade.

Among other products of The Best Foods, Incorporated, are Best Foods mayonnaise, Best Foods relish spread, Best Foods thousand island dressing, Best Foods salad dressing, Best Foods horseradish mustard and Fan-nings bread and butter pickles.

In the success of these products—Mr. Schade credits an important part to his company's newspaper advertising in this territory and others. "Newspaper advertising," said Schade, "is the backbone of our promotional campaign."

"We are highly optimistic, not only for general upswing in business here, but especially for the elimination of the surplus of domestic oils which will be a boon to the southern farmer. With our new food product, the new nuco—made 100 per cent from home-grown vegetable oils, The Best Foods, Incorporated, is taking a leading role in that step. Other margarine manufacturers are expected to join us in selling a food spread made entirely from domestic oils," he added.

"With a billion pounds of southern vegetable oils in storage, and with his income reduced about two-thirds since the depression began, the southern farmer has been cut off from a large share of his rightful income," Mr. Schade said. "As a result, the entire south has suffered."

80 SUITS ARE FILED IN SUPERIOR COURT

About 80 new suits were filed in Fulton superior and city courts Tuesday, return day for the September term.

Included in a large number of automobile damage suits was that of Mrs. Harry L. Folger against Zakas Bakery, Eli Kavouris and others, asking $36,750 for the death of her husband, Harry L. Folger, who, according to the complaint, died June 20 after he was struck by the defendants' truck in College Park.

Harry L. English was named as defendant in a $15,000 damage suit brought by J. W. Warrick, who alleges that he was struck by an automobile driven by the defendant's chauffeur last November. Cotton Mather was named as defendant in a $25,000 suit filed by Miss Mary Clements, former Columbia (S. C.) school teacher, alleging injuries received last September in Madison county, Florida, in a collision in which Mr. Mather's car figured.

George D. Walters was named as defendant in three suits totaling $18,900 filed by Mrs. W. G. Gregory, and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Borders, for injuries alleged to have been sustained in a collision on April 17, 1933.

Two alleged shooting affrays resulted in suits totaling $80,000. George Pierre and Clyde Garner brought suits for $25,000 each against Emory University and J. T. Looney, watchman, alleging that they were wounded when Looney opened fire on them with a shotgun when they were bathing in a pond owned by the university. A similar suit was filed some time ago by Johnnie Taylor.

J. P. Smith filed suit for $10,000 against Marvin McGee, alleging that he was shot in the back by McGee last January. McGee was fined $100 and given 18 months' probation last February as a result of the shooting.

H. O. Hambrick, city policeman, and Roy Young, owner of a garage, are named as defendants in a $10,000 suit filed by A. C. Bryant. Bryant alleges that he was persecuted by Hambrick and Young, a poolroom proprietor, after Young had assaulted him in his place of business, and that Hambrick had him arrested for loitering, which charge was dismissed in recorder's court.

Among numerous suits brought on mortgage notes was one for $145,200 brought by Emory University against Citizens & Southern National bank, Mrs. W. B. Hamby and W. D. Thomson, executors of the will of the late Dr. W. B. Hamby. In another suit National Life Insurance Company seeks $25,250 from Guarantee Mortgage Company, of Atlanta, and P. C. McDuffie, president, on notes in connection with a loan on a Ponce de Leon avenue apartment house.

TEXAS DESPERADO WWAIVES EXTRADITION

PADUCAH, Ky., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Joe Palmer waived extradition and started back to Texas state prison this afternoon in custody of Bud Russell, transportation chief of the prison, and his son, Roy. Under death sentence for the murder of a prison guard, Palmer said, "I'm going back, so I might as well get it over with."

The Texas officers arrived around noon today, about the time Palmer was declaring he would fight extradition. He changed his mind and agreed to return at once. They are traveling by train.

BOARD IN TANGLE OVER WAGE HIKES

Reaction From Key Speech Seen in Meeting of City Finance Group.

Reaction from Mayor James L. Key's opening campaign address was seen Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the finance committee as that body engaged in a parliamentary snarl and action was deferred on reinstatement of salaries for about a dozen municipal employees.

Key Monday night flayed "piece-meal" reinstatements, and the committee was unable to get definite action on any of the requests from various departments. The mayor held that all employees should be treated alike.

The committee voted, however, to continue the $40,000 monthly contribution to FERA officials for relief purposes as has been previously agreed.

Councilman Aubrey Milam, vice chairman of the finance committee, who headed a delegation which waited on Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia FERA administrator, recommended the action. The committee sought to reduce payments by $10,000 a month, but government officials refused.

A special sub-committee from the finance committee was named for the purpose of conferring with members of the state highway board and federal officials with a view of having the Peters street viaduct rebuilt without the city having to extend Whitehall street, an estimated cost of about $100,000.

State officials have made extension of the street a condition on which the Peters street bridge will be reconstructed.

Scholarship Contest Close Set for Midnight Tonight

Judges To Be Announced Thursday; 20 Boys Will Be Invited To Come to Atlanta for Interview.

By THE SCHOLARSHIP EDITOR.

At midnight tonight The Constitution's Riverside Military Academy Scholarship contest will come to a close.

All entries must reach The Constitution before midnight or must bear a postoffice cancellation of not later than midnight to be considered by the board of judges. All entries postmarked later than midnight tonight will not be considered by the judges.

Applications have been received from every section of the state and the last few days the mail has been extra heavy. The board of judges, which will take over all applications received before the deadline tonight, will start to work immediately.

Their first task will be to select the letters of 20 applicants for the seven scholarships as most worthy of further consideration. The writers of these 20 letters will be invited to come to Atlanta at a time to be set by the board of judges, when the boys will be given personal interviews. From these 20 boys, one boy will be selected for the $1,000 complete one-year scholarship, with all expenses paid; three boys will be selected for $500 scholarships, and three boys will be named for the $300 scholarships, thus seven boys will be granted the seven awards. The board of judges, which will take over the work after midnight tonight, will be named in Thursday's Constitution. The judges, whose decisions will be final in every award, are being chosen because of their interest in education, because they know the boy attitude toward schooling and because they, themselves, have not long been out of preparatory school and universities. They will be outstanding examples of what every boy awarded one of The Constitution Riverside scholarships may aspire to when he has completed his education, a success in his chosen life work and an outstanding citizen of his community and nation.

Every boy in Georgia, between the ages of 12 and 18 years, who desires to attend a military academy should take advantage of the opportunity offered by The Constitution to win a scholarship. Applicants must write letters in their own hands setting forth the reasons why they feel they should be considered for one of the seven scholarships. The letter received today or mailed before midnight tonight will be considered just as fully as those which have already been received. The board of judges will not be made public until Thursday morning and no one has gone over the letters so far received. All arriving before the deadline will have the same chance, their merits will be just as fully gone into and the winners might just as well come from the last entries received as from the first to reach The Constitution.

BOND ELECTRIC CORP. HAS AUDITION HERE

Fred E. Brown, local representative of the Bond Electric Corporation of Jersey City, gave a special audition for jobbers handling the corporation's products at the Ansley hotel Tuesday.

A talk by George L. Sexton, vice president and general sales manager of the corporation, was given by electrical transcription, and afterwards Mr. Brown conducted a sales meeting. The company makes flashlights and batteries, and is putting on a fall sales campaign, in which newspapers and the radio will be used. He gave the details of the campaign and told how company executives had worked them out.

A talk along similar lines was also made by Oscar S. Tyson, of O. S. Tyson and Company, the advertising agency handling the corporation's plans. Distributors of the corporation's products in this territory heard the audition.

By THE SAYINGAME EDITOR.

When next Sunday rolls 'round it will herald the end of the Sayingame, which so many readers have enjoyed. After picture No. 8 of the series M. C. B., Atlanta, will be turned in, but it really isn't necessary to let go of them until the final deadline is reached on Saturday, September 1. Bearing this in mind, most contestants have decided to hold their sets temporarily and use their time allowance for rechecking, or for getting up extra sets.

But above all, remember that the letters must reach The Constitution not later than midnight tonight, or if mailed, must bear a postoffice cancellation showing that they were cancelled by the postoffice not later than midnight tonight.

is, the race for prizes is free, wide and handsome!

All Day. Q. How late during the day can I get some duplicate pictures I need?

A. The Sayingame department, located on the first floor of The Constitution building, Alabama and Forsyth streets, opens each day except Sunday at 8 a. m. and closes at 6 p. m.

SAYINGAME INFORMATION "Sayings of the Wise" is the official contest book, containing all of the most appropriate old sayings for the series of 80 pictures. This book is 50 cents a copy, or 54 cents by mail.

Extra pictures, for replacing those that have been lost or soiled, or for making up additional sets, are kept on hand in the circulation department. Single copies are 5 cents apiece, the price of the individual issues of The Constitution in which they were published. Any eight pictures may be had for 40 cents, or 40 pictures (half the series) for $1.25. Mail orders should include 3 cents extra for postage.

Questions and Answers

It's Fair.

Q. I like the Sayingame immensely. One thing puzzles me. Why do you permit contestants to send in as many sets as they want to? J. G. R., Atlanta.

A. Contestants may send in as many sets as they wish. This rule was made at the beginning of the contest. It prevents unfairness on the part of some who otherwise might have inconsiderably filled out additional sets under the names and addresses of relatives or friends—to the disadvantage of contestants to whom this procedure did not occur. As it

CLAMITANS.

So far our frog show has brought to our attention two small frogs, about an inch in length of body, and one larger, the leopard, which reaches an occasional length of three and one-half inches. The one we will discuss today is a bit larger than that, for four inches mark a good adult. This is the green-frog, known to the initiated as Rana clamitans, the crying frog. The appellation is perfect.

Clamitans appear on the marsh soon after the warming of the waters discourages the vociferous calling of the spring peepers. Please remember that what I am saying about the succession of amphibian actors hold true in normal years, when there is a slightly varying temperature gradient, bringing them out in normal succession. A winter such as this occurred in the season of 1932-33. The next winter, 1933-34 and the subsequent spring were so confused as to their real identities that the poor frogs had no idea at all what was expected of them. Therefore, we actually had the first frogs of the year, the swamp crickets, calling when the late-appearing toads were beginning to sing on the marsh flats.

Occasionally, however, a specimen of clamitans more venturesome than its kin, will appear on a warm day in late winter. The population as a whole, on the other hand, awaits the coming of the first spring days. I must ask you to bear in mind that my seasons are not astronomical, beginning officially on such and such a day at so many minutes and seconds past what o'clock. They are reference to the general trend of that conglomeration of phenomena we call weather.

Of all our local frogs, the green frog can be confused with only one, and that one is the bull frog. There is a distinguishing external character that will enable you to tell them apart if you will remember it. There is a fold of skin down the back of the green frog extending down that line that the back aside from the sides, if you know what I mean. That, in technical parlance, would be described as a dorso-lateral epidermal fold. However, you want to say it, take your choice. The bullfrog has no such folds.

Females are slightly larger than males in this species. You must take size measurements in amphibians largely for granted when you see them in the brooks. The ultimate size of the frog depends largely on the size of the tadpole before its metamorphosis.

As a result Chevrolet now offers you the lowest priced six-cylinder automobile obtainable—a big, comfortable car with Fisher Body styling and refinement—safe, weatherproof, cable-controlled brakes—the smoothness and economy of a valve-in-head, six-cylinder engine—and typical Chevrolet dependability. TALMADGE SPEAKS AT GRIFFIN TODAY

Motorcade To Leave Atlanta at Noon; Jarrell Scores Gilbert.

Governor Talmadge will resume his campaign for re-election with a speech at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Griffin, making his first appearance on the stump since last Wednesday, when he spoke before a large crowd at Thomaston.

The governor will leave Atlanta shortly before noon, planning to stop several places between here and Griffin to visit with his friends. A motorcade sponsored by the Fulton County Talmadge Club will leave the Belle Isle garage here at 12:15 o'clock and reach Griffin in time for the speaking, at 3 o'clock, eastern time.

As the governor prepared to resume his speaking engagements today, he will make the first of two addresses he will make this week, his two opponents, Judge Claude C. Pittman, of Cartersville, and Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, of Atlanta, continued their campaigning as both friends and foes of the chief executive commented on the White House statement of Monday in which President Roosevelt reiterated that he will take no part in the Georgia campaign or in any other local campaign.

Jarrell Scores Gilbert.
Jake Jarrell, former sheriff of Meriwether county, the part-time home of the president, issued a statement scoring his fellow citizen, Dr. R. B. Gilbert, of Greenville, president of the Roosevelt Clubs of Georgia, for proclaiming his support of Governor Talmadge, while Solicitor-General J. Cecil Davis, of the Toombs circuit, who lives at Warrenton, issued a statement pledging his support to the governor and predicting that the chief executive would carry all six counties of the state.

Another feature of the campaign activities Tuesday was the announcement that the Atlanta division of the Railway Carmen of America and the Atlanta Barbers' Union had voted

JACKSON GRAND JURY INDORSES TALMADGE

JEFFERSON, Ga., Aug. 14.—The grand jury of Jackson county, home county of John N. Hilder, and native county of Abit Nix, of Athens, both of whom have expressed opposition to Governor Talmadge, today in a special resolution presented to Superior Judge W. W. Stark indorsed the administration of Governor Talmadge and commended him to the voters of the county for re-election.

"We deeply appreciate his untiring efforts in behalf of the farmers and working people of Georgia," the resolution stated. "Let this resolution be embraced in the presentments of this grand jury, this fourteenth day of August, 1934."

Monday night to approve the resolution of the executive committee of the Georgia Federation of Labor, condemning Governor Talmadge and the highway board for refusal to adopt the NRA wage scale for highway laborers.

Governor Talmadge's address at Griffin this afternoon is expected to feature the day of campaigning. Major Quimby Melton, chairman of the Griffin committee, completing plans for the governor's visit, said Tuesday that a crowd of upward of 10,000 was expected to attend.

Judge Pittman will speak at 11 o'clock this morning at Hartwell and at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Jefferson, while Mr. Gilliam will speak at 11 o'clock this morning at Nashville and at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Waycross.

Statement of Davis.
The statement of Solicitor-General Davis, issued after a call on the governor, follows:
"I am fairly familiar with the sentiment in the Toombs judicial circuit, composed of the counties of Glascock, Wilkes, Taliaferro, Warren, McDuffie and Lincoln counties, and know that this sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of the re-election of Governor Talmadge."

"I am wholeheartedly for the re-election of Governor Talmadge because of his record. He has carried out his campaign platform more than any governor within my memory."

"I am also a strong supporter of President Roosevelt and took an active part in his campaign two years ago."

"There are no great points of difference between the two men. President Roosevelt is making a sincere effort to get lower power rates in the country, and the facts show that Governor Talmadge has already secured a uniform light and power reduction throughout the state in advance of President Roosevelt's program."

"With Roosevelt president in Washington and Talmadge governor in Georgia, the great majority of Georgia people need have no fear but that we shall continue to emerge from this depression."

Jarrell's Statement.
The Jarrell statement follows:
"As one of the original friends of President Roosevelt in Meriwether county, and one of the organizers of the first Roosevelt-for-President Club in America, I desire to protest against the efforts of my personal friend, Dr. R. B. Gilbert, who is an appointee of the governor, to create the impression that the real friends of Mr. Roosevelt in Georgia are in accord with the ruthless fight made on the New Deal by Governor Talmadge."

"The doctor seeks to pull Gene out of the hole in which he has placed himself, by fighting every principle of the Roosevelt administration designed to restore this country to the position where every man can earn his living by the sweat of his brow."

"Talmadge himself has made the issue of Roosevelt or Talmadge by his continuous and insidious fight on the New Deal."

"He fought the president's banking policy; he fought the CWA; he fought the Bankhead bill; he fought the CCC; he fought the cotton projects."

"By these policies of the national administration around a hundred and fifty million dollars was brought into Georgia, over Governor Talmadge's protest and against his constant warfare upon them."

"Dr. Gilbert is a member of the board of control, appointed to this position by Governor Talmadge, and has been made the governor's campaign manager in this county."

"He is simply trying to throw down a smoke screen to shield his governing from the righteous indignation of the Georgia voters for his ruthless warfare on the president's progressive policies."

"Nothing he can say or do can becloud the issue made by Talmadge himself of Roosevelt or Talmadge by the governor's fight upon the president."

"The Good Book says that 'He who is not for Me is against Me.' The governor and his managers, one of whom is my good friend, Dr. Gilbert, have seen the cyclone of indignation his conduct has brought, and are making a puny effort to abate the storm."

"Dr. Gilbert does not represent the views of the president's real friends; nor is Dr. Gilbert the mouthpiece of the president in Meriwether county."

"We people of Meriwether county know that Dr. Gilbert is not sincere in his statement; that he fought against Talmadge and for John Hilder in the last election; that he has been a devotee of Talmadge since his appointment by Talmadge about one year ago to the board of control; and we know, and Georgia knows, that this applies for the purpose of securing his support in the present race."

"P. S. I have worn suspenders all of my life, but not red ones."

MURPHY LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN TONIGHT

Mayorality Candidate Will Speak at Gordon School in Home Ward.

The triangular battle for the mayorality nomination will be definitely launched tonight when Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, of the eleventh ward, and one of the three contenders, trains his oral guns on an audience in a bid for preference at the John B. Gordon school, in his home ward.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock and Murphy is expected to open his drive with an indictment of the four-year Key regime. He will contend that the city's fiscal problems have increased instead of being alleviated under Key, will hold that Key has failed to measure up to what was expected of him and will score "Key's false economy policies."

Key began his drive for re-nomination in the September 28 primary at a meeting held Monday night at the English Avenue school in the fifth ward, and Roy Le Craw launched his campaign at a meeting held last Friday night at the Stanton school.

Following the address tonight, the mayorality drive is slated to occupy the local political spotlight. Key, Senator Walter A. Sims, opposed by Alderman G. Everett Millican; Phil C. McDuffie, opposing Representative William B. Hartsfield; Bond Almand, also a legislative candidate, and Recorder John L. Cone have been invited to attend a meeting of the City Employees' Forum at 7:30 o'clock tonight on the Ansley roof garden. Millican was invited, but was out of the city.

J. Ira Harrelson, president of the Atlanta board of education, Tuesday addressed a letter to Mayor Key scoring Key's criticism of schools Monday night.

Harrelson cited figures to show that kindergarten cost 3.02 per cent of the cost of operation of schools; superintendents, assistants, musical and hand directors and supervisors' clerk cost 1.01 per cent; testing and guidance department, 1.18 per cent, and visual education, 1.18 per cent. He claimed elimination of those departments would save only 4.37 per cent, but would throw 107 persons out of work.

Harrelson hit Key for his attack. Senator Sims Tuesday released a lengthy statement in which he scored Millican, defended his own record and branded Millican's statement in rejecting a joint debate proposal advanced by Sims as "misleading and deceitful."

Sims pledged himself to "have Fulton county made a senatorial district at the next session. He reiterated charges that Millican is a candidate of "special interests" and asserted he has represented the masses much better than Millican has during their respective terms as public officials.

Policeman Badly Hurt
In Motorcycle Crash

G. W. Richardson, motorcycle patrolman, suffered a fractured skull and a ruptured right ear drum Tuesday afternoon when his motorcycle collided with a laundry truck driven by Leon Trolinger, of 51 Chappell road, at the intersection of Pryor and Mitchell streets.

Richardson and his partner, J. D. Elbridge, had just been given their assignment to lead a motorcade at Inman yards and were en route there when the accident occurred. Richardson's motorcycle struck the rear end of the truck. He complained that he could not hear out of his right ear and was taken to Grady hospital for an examination.

There it was revealed that the ear drum was ruptured and that a bump on his head was caused by a fracture of the skull. He refused to be admitted to the hospital, returning to his home.

HEAVY RAINS BREAK
GRIP OF DROUGHT ON WESTERN AREA

Rains soothed the fevered central west Tuesday and cloudy skies shielded other sections of the drought area from the withering sun.

Virtually the entire nation, with the exception of the southwest, enjoyed a respite from the heat.

Downpours drenched northwestern Kansas and clouds covered most of the state. At Dresden there was a 1.40-inch rain and Tribune had a fall of .86 inch. These rains were believed by S. D. Flora, federal meteorologist, to preface the beginning of the end of the drought.

Other Kansas points reporting heavy rains were Bird City, 1.95 inches; Atwood, 1.61; Levant, 1.50; and Sharon Springs, 1 inch.

Missouri, which with Kansas has borne the brunt of the torrid wave, was slighted in the precipitation distribution, but overcast skies indicated the likelihood of showers.

Rain, ranging up to 2.80 inches at Worthington, fell in parts of Minnesota Monday night. Pipestone had its first heavy fall since July 15. Farmers said it greatly benefited crops around Farmington.

Lower temperatures accompanied scattered rainfall in North Dakota. General rains brought relief to most of South Dakota.

The sun veiled the clouds in western Missouri, and at mid-afternoon the temperature at Kansas City had reached an even 100.

Western and northern Iowa had light showers, but southern Iowa and Illinois farmers had to be content for the main part with darkened skies.

Hardly had Oklahoma finished giving thanks for the rains that streamed over its baking prairies than the sun launched a counter-attack. Before noon the temperature had climbed to 100 at Oklahoma City and in the afternoon it reached 108 at Newkirk.

West Texas saw some hope for relief in the forecast of partly cloudy. The shortage of water for live stock became more acute. More scorching weather was the outlook for east Texas.

Cloudy skies kept down temperatures in Illinois. At Morris, Ill., elm trees, long shorn of their foliage by the intense heat were reported bearing new green leaves.

NEW YORKER HITS LEGALITY OF NRA

Whole Act Unconstitutional, Says Manufacturer in Reply to Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(P)—A New York shoe manufacturer today met the charge at a federal trade commission hearing that he had violated an NRA code with the counter-accusation that the entire recovery organization was unconstitutional.

The government complained that Edward J. Ramsey, the manufacturer, had violated the shoe code by allowing discounts that were too large.

Ramsey replied that congress had exceeded constitutional powers in giving the president in the law which set up NRA, "dictatorial" powers "never intended by the framers of the constitution."

Since the federal trade commission is not a court, it is not likely to take this assertion by Ramsey into consideration. But it will study other contentions he made: That the shoe code was changed without his knowledge and that the code aids and abets monopoly.

More than 100 codes have discount provisions similar to those in the shoe pact.

At the same time, the power of NRA, to require filing of price lists with code authorities, was again assailed before the commission by two rubber companies in a case which is testing price fixing—said by many businessmen to be the heart of NRA—in some 200 NRA codes.

The two cases were heard by the trade commission because it is the body designated to hear complaints regarding price fixing, monopoly, etc., if NRA is unable to affect a settlement.

Teeth Strangle Hero After He Saves Woman

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Aug. 14.—(P)—Jess Shasteen, 25-year-old textile worker, was a hero in death today; but he died in a most peculiar way—from swallowing his false teeth.

A neighbor woman screamed yesterday when she came in contact with an electric switch. Shasteen rushed to rescue her. He was "shocked" so severely when he pulled the woman loose he swallowed his teeth. He worked two hours over him, but in vain. Physicians listed death due to strangulation. The woman suffered only minor burns.

quire 90 hours per week of productive machine operation.

"It is clear that in the light of the present purchasing power of the people, the research and planning division's suggestion of a 90-hour standard is at least 30 per cent too high," said the union official.

"Any increase in the demand for cotton goods must depend almost entirely on an increase in the purchasing power of the workers in all industries, and it is worse than foolish to suggest a production program for the coming year which would intensify the disastrous lack of balance between production and consumption which exists at the present time."

Gorman said the union was convinced that the higher shirt would be sufficient to meet present demands.

Another Finding Criticized.

He criticized as "disappointing" another finding of the division that under present conditions, an increase in wages would "involve considerable difficulties."

Wages in the cotton textile industry had been so "disgracefully low," he maintained, that even after a 15-cent-an-hour increase, the cotton textile average wage is still 16 cents below the average for all manufacturing industries.

The average weekly wage for cotton workers for April, 1934, "appears to be $13.31," Gorman said, and with the present reduction in working hours, it has fallen to $10 or even less.

Criticizing what he termed the contention of employers, that lower living costs in the south justified lower wages there, he charged that the employers have "forced lower standards of living on the workers, who simply were not able to consume as much as the better-paid northern workers."

Gorman said the union was "greatly disappointed" in the operation of the cotton textile board. Too many of its decisions, he declared, "are made from the viewpoint of the management."

"I think we have nothing to lose and probably something to gain if the cotton textile board is incorporated in the system of boards to be headed by the new national labor relations board," he asserted.

Delegates to the convention voted to send a telegram to General Hugh S. Johnson urging the withdrawal of the Blue Eagle from the Harriman-Hosiery Mills, at Harriman, Tenn., criticized the NRA administrator for returning the emblem before representatives of labor had a chance to be heard.

Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and a member of the labor advisory board, urged that working hours be shortened to the point where all the unemployed are absorbed "and an actual shortage of labor exists."

would give no details as to the appearance of its interior.

Before leaving here Hugh Labatt would not state whether he was carrying any money for the kidnappers, but it was thought likely he was not.

In Toronto other than to say that the provincial police were working on the case there, officials would not discuss the matter.

General Victor S. Williams, commissioner of the provincial force, and Chief Constable D. C. Draper, of the Toronto police department, both were reported as being "engaged" though it was not revealed whether they were working together.

Labatt succeeded to the presidency of the Labatt Brewing Company upon the death of his father about 12 years ago.

Well Known.

He is well known in southwestern Ontario where for many years he has taken a keen interest in business and public affairs. He is well known as a horseman.

Labatt was married seven years ago to Miss Betty Lynch, of Ottawa, Ont.

The kidnapping is about 5 feet 8 inches in height and weighs 180 pounds.

An injury to his foot while he was playing football as a boy causes him to walk with a slight limp and he usually carries a cane.

London, the apparent scene of the kidnapping, is an interior city of southwestern Ontario having a population of approximately 75,000. It is an important provincial commercial center and is about 100 miles northeast of Detroit, Mich.

The maximum penalty provided for kidnapping in the province of Ontario is 25 years in prison.

While the Labatt case is the first actual kidnapping police can recall, three men are being held for trial in Toronto on charges of conspiracy to kidnap J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers, Ltd.

KIDNAPING OF CHILD, 7, LAID TO PAIR AT NORFOLK

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 14.—(P)—For the first time in history, the federal kidnapping law, commonly known as the Lindbergh law, was brought into use today when an ex-convict and an ex-soldier were charged with kidnapping seven-year-old Janice Marie Walston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Walston, of Norfolk, on August 8, and the illegal transportation of the child in the North Carolina.

The defendants are Berrel Colson, ex-convict, of Elizabeth City, N. C., and Earl Boles, formerly a private serving in the army at Fort Bragg, N. C., who are being held for alleged violations of the Mann white slave act and for alleged violation of the Dyer motor vehicle theft act.

Other new officers elected included: Supreme master of exchequer, Richard L. Meares, Wilmington, N. C.

Girl, 18, Who Survived Suicide Pact Determined To Join Chum in Death

Nora Baker, 18, of 453 Whitehall terrace, who joined another girl in a suicide pact that proved fatal to her companion but unsuccessful for herself, today will be released from Grady hospital, where she has been for the last five weeks.

Miss Baker fired a bullet into her right breast which ranged to the left, barely missing her heart. Her companion in the pact, Pauline Trollinger, 19, of Cascade road, died almost immediately after firing a bullet that entered her breast at the same spot.

Miss Baker did not know until recently that her girl friend was dead, believing that she also lay wounded at the hospital.

"I'll join Pauline yet," hospital attendants quoted Miss Baker as saying. She declared she would keep her word and soon follow her chum to the grave.

She told police after the shooting that both of them were "turned down" by their boy friends and left notes to their parents admitting this fact.

Later, at the hospital, however, the Baker girl claimed she was ill and could not support her mother and decided that death would be the only way out. Pauline, she said, agreed to kill herself, too.

The double shooting took place on July 17 at Guthman's laundry, Whitehall and Brotherton streets, where H. Trollinger, father of Pauline, was night watchman. The girls used his guns.

Atlanta Autoist Sued For $60,000 Damages

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 14.—(P)—C. P. Roberts, of Atlanta, Ga., lying seriously injured in a Nashville hospital, was made defendant in two suits claiming damages totaling $60,000 today following an automobile accident near here Monday.

The suits were brought in circuit court by C. Bailey Harper, of Nashville, as administrator of the estate of Russell B. Stearns, of Miami, Fla., who was killed in the accident when his car and that of Mr. Roberts were in collision. Jack Stearns, 2-year-old son of Mr. Stearns, was injured.

One suit asked $50,000 for the death of Mr. Stearns and the other $10,000 for injuries to the child.

Mr. Roberts, suffering with nose and skull fractures and face lacerations, was described at the hospital to-night as being "slightly improved."

Roberts is Atlanta salesman for Libby, McNeill & Libby Company, 203 Red Rock building.

Nevada Divorce "Mill" Is Defended by Judge

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—(P)—Nevada's so-called divorce mills were defended by Judge Charles J. Guild, of Carson City, Nev., as "a great benefit to mankind."

"It is only in civilized countries that men and women are forced by law to live in unhappiness," the judge, who recently granted Mrs. Curtis B. Dall, daughter of President Roosevelt, her divorce, said yesterday.

"Divorce is after all a mere formality giving legal sanction to a separation that has already been effected. It is inhuman to compel people to remain married when they want divorce and have bona fide reasons for separation."

Navy Asks Bids Today For 24 War Vessels

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(P)—Aiming toward a fleet second to none in the world, the navy opens bids tomorrow for 24 fighting vessels including four cruisers, 14 destroyers and six submarines.

The submarines and destroyers will be the first vessels laid down under the Vinson-Trammell act authorizing the building of the navy to treaty strength.

One cruiser of 10,000 tons and carrying 8-inch guns, cannot be laid down until January 1, under the London naval treaty. Its construction will bring the navy to treaty power in this category as five such cruisers have been completed since the first of this year.

The other cruisers, also 10,000 tons but with 6-inch guns, will bring the navy to within 17,100 tons of treaty limits for cruisers of this type.

Construction of the destroyers—two of 1,850 tons and the rest 1,500—will leave 77,635 tons of these small ships to be built before the navy reaches treaty power.

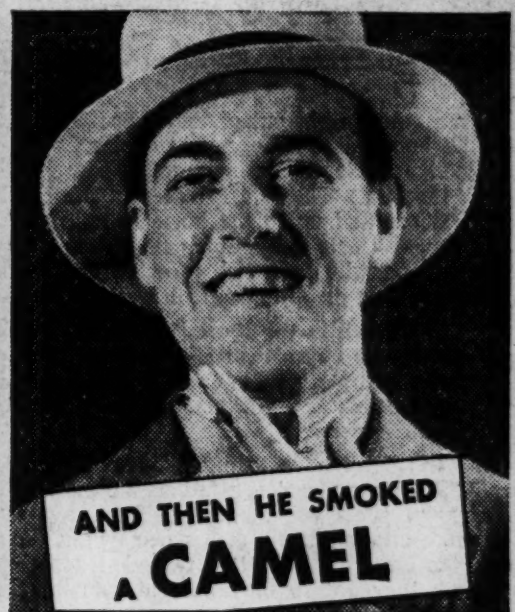

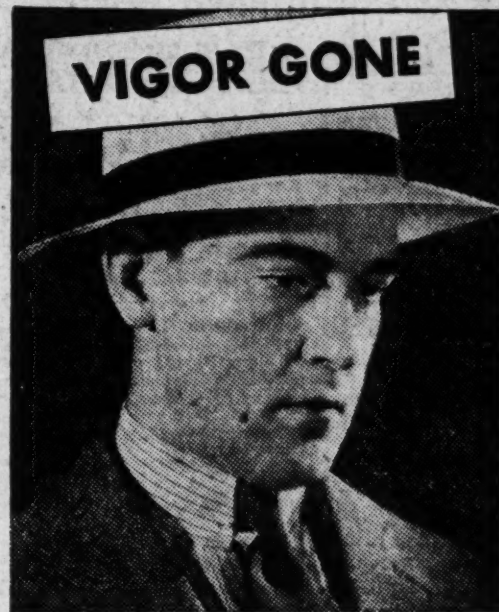

The new 1,300-ton submarines will raise the navy to within 27,740 tons of treaty strength for undersea craft.

LEAGUE PLANS FORUM ON REGISTRATION BILL

The Atlanta League of Women Voters will conduct a round-table discussion on the registration bill sponsored by the league at the organization's headquarters, 74 Whitehall street, at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning. Copies of the bill have been sent to all candidates for the state senate and legislature, according to Mrs. J. C. Sanders, president. These candidates have been invited to attend Friday's meeting.

Mrs. Leonard Haas and Mrs. R. L. Turman will lead the round-table discussion. Plans for the garden party scheduled for Friday have been cancelled by league officials in the hope that all members and interested citizens will attend the meeting.

Bandits Raid Bank.
CAMPTI, La., Aug. 14.—(P)—A bandit held up and robbed the Bank of Campti this morning and escaped with about $1,500 after locking five persons in the vault. A woman accomplice waited in a car outside the bank during the robbery. The two drove south from Campti toward Alexandria.

SUSTAINING POWER--the retaining of efficiency between refinery and road performance.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS

about the world's biggest, best, newest refining unit at Texas City, Texas

- The refinery covers 450 acres of land.
- It required an average of 2,600 men per day—a period of nine months to actually construct the refinery (aside from time consumed in planning).
- The refining unit is the most modern in the world—adopting the latest discoveries and innovations in the art of refining.
- An idea of the mammoth size of the refining unit can be obtained from the following:
 - In a single operating day, this unit will produce enough gasoline to run an average automobile 9,000,000 miles, or about 360 times around the earth at the equator.
 - Six 8-room houses could be set inside a single one of its furnaces.
 - One of its fractionating towers—most massive ever built—is as high as a seven-story building.
 - 40½ miles of piping were used just in two furnaces to provide the required heat exchange surface.
 - This unit will turn out enough heavy bunker oil in a single day to produce, if used in making electric power, current sufficient to provide the home lighting requirements of a city of 2,000,000 people.
 - In addition, large quantities of kerosene, furnace oil for home heating, and gas are made.

AMERICAN OIL COMPANY

Also maker of AMOCO-GAS--the ORIGINAL SPECIAL MOTOR FUEL

"It comes right out of the fingers," he said, holding them up all bunched as if he clutched reins.

"Like a telegraphic message," I suggested.

"Like that," he said, "right out of the fingers and down the ribbons and up to the horse's brain."

It was Uncle Billy Lotz, who once drove on the Grand Circuit and who won two races in one week with the same horse the year the Grand Circuit was in Atlanta. He was talking.

"It's all in the touch," he said. "That's why Pop Geers was better than anyone else. Pop could drive a horse and you couldn't see he was doing a thing. But all the time Pop was sending those messages right out of his fingers."

"You don't have to move them?" I asked.

"I'll swear you don't, although I guess you do," said Billy Lotz. "I guess you move 'em a fraction or put some small pressure on there like a man squeezing off the trigger of a rifle. But the great ones like Pop Geers—I don't think they moved. I think they got so they thought something and the thought came right out of their fingers and up to the horse's brain."

"Horses understand some people better. There is a sort of—what do you call it?—mental telepathy between them. Some fellows can take a horse and make him go faster than anyone else just by holding those reins and sending messages out of the fingers," said Billy Lotz.

We were talking, of course, about the return of harness racing to Lakewood park on next Saturday. Some 30 fine trotters and pacers will be present.

"Trotting and pacing are not natural gait," you know, said Uncle Billy, warning to his subject. "And the science of driving is keeping a horse in that unnatural gait and getting speed out of him. That's why some drivers are better than others. They can get more out of a horse."

"And a trotting horse covers a lot of ground. They run heats and they are often scored three or four times before they get off to a good start. It's great," he said. "And it takes a horse with heart to go."

THE KID FROM GEORGIA.

"It was at Osgood, Ind., not far from Cincinnati," continued Uncle Billy Lotz, "that I first met George Stiles."

(George Stiles is located at Rome, Ga., and is one of the best-known trainers in the game.)

"I was in the first heat this day—let me see—it was August 16 in 1903," said Uncle Billy. "A boss lunged behind me and fell and hit my bike. Broke it right in two, it did. And sent me over into the field; dislocated my shoulder, but my boss wasn't hurt."

"I was trying to get another bike. A friend of mine says to me, 'There's a kid here from Georgia and I think I can get his bike.' So they did, and it was George Stiles and he drove my boss and won the next heat. 'You can't say too much for George Stiles,' he said."

Uncle Billy will drive Governor Eugene Talmadge's trotting horse in the races Saturday at Lakewood.

And you know where your old partner will be? Right there a-looking on, so to speak. The hay-burner derbies are to my liking. They'll get these races smoothed out quite soon. But the debut will be good. And I'd be there. And maybe the legislature will do something for the harness horses—like, may be, a little pari-mutuel. But that's all ahead.

At any rate, I'd see the horses trot Saturday, were I you.

There's something about a horse or a dog—well, I don't know. There's just something about them.

WELL, SO HELP ME—WHAT A CROWD!

Well, you may lay ten to one and get no takers that Colonel Jake Ruppert was sobbing into a seidel of his Knickerbocker beer yesterday.

The Colonel, figuring it was a Tuesday, and the New Deal not yet having put everyone back to work, did not put up any circus planks in his Yankee ball park. And so what? Well, 77,000 paid customers jammed into his park to see the Detroit play the Yankees. And SOME 25,000 WERE TURNED AWAY FOR LACK OF ROOM.

It was just as if someone had rapped on your door some day and said: "I have $25,000 which I will pay you to let me come in and sit around for about four hours."

And you had to say, tearfully: "Brother, there ain't a seat in the house."

Apply that personally and you can imagine how Colonel Jacob Ruppert felt when 25,000 cash customers were turned away. He would have cracked his attendance record for his park, which was about 85,000, and he would have had to put another gun in the guard going to the bank. This figure surpasses any previous paid attendance for a double-header at the park.

There is no pain in the world, not even the leaping toothache, which is quite painful, which compares with a $25,000 pain in the pocketbook. And you may lay to that. (That last line is the Treasure Island influence, the picture being scheduled for our town on Thursday.)

"SOMEBODY'S GOT TO GIT THEM CATS."

Remember when Bert Williams, that great colored comedian, used to come out in those floppy shoes and the wide pants and grin and chant that old song, the second verse of which went:

Now, de circus played our town one day
'N two Bengal Tigers got away.
The circus man he looked right straight at me
'N said, 'Here's yo opportunitee!
Somebody's got to git dem cats,
Yas, suh, somebody's got to go.
Now, de man what captures them alive,' says he,
'He's gwine to gain notoriety.'
'Yas, suh,' says I,
'It's a great opportunity for somebody,
Somebody else, NOT ME.'"

The American league is offering a great opportunity for somebody to get those Bengal Tigers from Detroit. But it also appears that every club in the league is saying, "Somebody else, not me."

GENERAL CROWDER AND ROWE.

The Yankees must have been more than ordinarily pained yesterday when the Tigers took two games. General Crowder, who was offered to any taker for the waiver price, was refused by all clubs except Detroit. Yesterday the General beat the Yankees in the first game.

Schoolboy Rowe, the Fast Train from Arkansas, won the second one. It was a day of smashing alleged jinxes. The first game was the 13th straight for Detroit. When Rowe won the second he had won 13 straight, running his season's record to 18.

Mickey Cochrane, with his club six and a half games in front of the pack, has done and is doing a great job. Somebody's got to git them cats—but who? And the echo answers, "Who?"

Pirates Score Two in Eighth, One in Ninth for 3-2 Game.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—A pair of pitching veterans, Burleigh Grimes and Walter Hoyt, got the better of the brilliant Carl Hubbell on the mound today as the Pirates turned back the Giants, 3 to 2, in the first game of the league leaders' final invasion of the west.

The defeat didn't do any harm to New York's 4-1-2 game lead as the second-place Cubs took a beating from Boston.

The seven innings it looked like Hubbell's game as the southpaw limited the Pirates to one lone hit, a single by Lloyd Waner in the fifth. But the tide turned suddenly in the last two frames toward Pittsburgh. Trailling 2 to 0 going into the eighth, the Bucs tied the score on the second and third hits off Hubbell, plus an error by Hughes Critz, and they won out with two more hits in the ninth.

SIX-HIT BALL.

Meanwhile Grimes, making his first start of the season, pitched six-hit ball until he was removed for a pinch batsman in the eighth. Playing with the Cardinals and Yankees earlier this season before he finally came to Pittsburgh by the waiver route, Grimes had served only as a relief pitcher. Hoyt followed him in the last inning and got credit for his tenth victory of the season by retiring the Giants on five pitched balls.

The Giants touched Grimes for a run in the second when Travis Jackson walked, Harry Danning doubled, and after two had been retired and the bases loaded by an intentional pass to Joe Moore, Critz beat out a slow bouncer for a hit. In the next inning Phil Weintraub singled and Jackson brought him home with a triple, but was left stranded there as Grimes bowled down. From then on Grimes held the world champions in subjection with his spitball and an effective curve.

SUHR LEADS RALLY.

Gus Suhr was the leader of the Pirate rallies which won the game. After Arky Vaughan singled to start the eighth, Suhr sent hard liner over Bill Terry's head and it bounded off the right field wall past Mel Ott and was good for a triple. Critz's fumble of Manager Pie Traynor's hand in the eighth let Suhr's drive in. The winning run came from Freddy Lindstrom's double and Suhr's single after two were out in the ninth.

Tiger Hero

Charley Gehring swung a heavy bat yesterday as the Tigers handed the Yankees a double defeat in the opening of their five-game series at New York. He hit a home run in the first and second games and drove in six runs in the two games, two in the first and four in the last.

SINGH MEETS DAVIS TONIGHT

Jagot Singh, the Hindu star, will meet Carl Davis, the former college football luminary, in the one-hour semi-windup of Henry Weber's wrestling show tonight at the Ponce de Leon ball park.

Singh, whose previous appearances here have won him the favor of the fans, was substituted last night for Tommy Marvin, who is unable to appear here because of an injury. The appearance of Singh will boost the card.

The Hindu is both colorful and capable. Davis is a great foe and will probably enter the ring as the favorite. But it should be a great match.

Chief Chewacki, the crazy Indian who is funnier than the four Marx brothers and at the same time one of the greatest comedians in the game, meets Orville Brown in the 90-minute feature.

Chewacki will have 90 minutes in which to use his unlimited assortment of tricks and an entertaining evening is assured both for Brown and the spectators.

Father Lumpkin, the old Georgia Tech footballer, and Andy Racher, ex-Indiana grid ace, tangle in the 30-minute match.

Lumpkin is aiming for stardom and intends to use Racher as another stepping stone.

Tonight's card begins at 8:15. Tickets are on sale only at the Piedmont Hatters.

Carrollton Plays Douglasville Nine

CARROLLTON, Ga., Aug. 14.—Carrollton and Douglasville will play an important game of the West Georgia league here tonight. Douglasville is leading with six games won and one lost, while Carrollton is a half game behind.

GRANT ENTERS FOURTH ROUND; Foe Defaults

Prusoff Has Stomach-ache and Gives Up in Second Set.

By Bill King.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(AP) Five of the eight quarter-finals brackets were filled today while the brilliant Carl Grant, who was the last to enter in the Newport tennis tournament, was putting on a tame tennis show.

The only upsetting news came from outside of the Casino's tree-lined walls, when Fred Perry, British Davis cup ace, and his partner, Fred Wilke, sent word from New York to scratch their doubles entry made in their names yesterday.

The second-day gallery saw nothing exciting until late in the morning play, when the sixth-seeded Frankie Parker, playing very poor tennis for him, was carried to five sets by Eugene McCauliff, of New York.

PARKER WINS.

Parker, one of the most promising youngsters in the court game, had more than he could handle with McCauliff's steaming service in the first two sets of this match but the New Yorker wilted early and Parker swept through the last three sets to win the match at 2-6, 3-6, 6-0, 6-2, 6-3.

All of the other quarter-finalist qualifiers, with the exception of Bryan "Bitty" Grant, the national clay court champion from Atlanta, gained straight set victories. Grant opposed Henry Prusoff, promising Seattle player, and this westerner, who was suffering from an ailing stomach, Ryan to Philadelphia after Grant won the first set at 6-1, and led three games to love in the second.

The third-seeded Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Texas, last year's runner-up, was substituted last night for the Longwood bowl winner over Berkeley Bell, entered the round of eight by defeating Wilmer Hines, of Columbia, S. C., 7-5, 6-0, 6-3. Gregory Mangin, of New York, ranked just behind Allison in the draw, won in easy fashion from John McDiarmid, of Fort Worth, Texas, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5. He defeated the veteran E. W. Fiebleman, of New York, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4.

SHIELDS WOOD.

Nightfall found Shields and Sidney Wood, the pair who shared the United States Davis cup assignments, still in the fourth round, along with the eighth-seeded Jack Tidball, of Hollywood, Cal. Gene Mako, the new junior champion, and Johnny Van Ryn, who did not arrive here until this morning, was called upon to play two singles matches. He made his Newport bow by defeating Arthur Hendricks, of Lakeland, Fla., 6-1, 6-3, and then overcame H. L. Bowman, of New York, 6-3, 6-1 in his third round engagement.

Shields gained an easy 6-3, 6-3 win over Eddie Jacobs, of Baltimore. Wood had to work much harder turning back Martin Buxby, of Miami, 6-4, 8-10, 6-3, and Tidball was also forced to go an extra set before eliminating John Ray, of Boston, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3.

Seventeen first and second-round doubles matches were played during the afternoon without any kind of excitement. Most of the interest in the team play vanished when it became known that Perry and Wilde had defaulted and the top-seeded George Loft and Lester Stiefen, the Davis cup team that gave the United States its only point in the final round against the British, would not get going until tomorrow.

The busiest pair were the second-seeded Allison-Van Ryn combination, which won two matches, a 6-1, 6-3 victory over W. F. Crocker and J. L. Bidwell, of New York, and a second-round 6-1, 6-2, triumph over the Princeton entry, Lindley Tiers and Amos Enos.

Villa Rica Wins Over Leaders, 5-1

Two Much for Yanks

Detroit got away to a flying start in the first two games with New York in their "crucial" series at the Yankee stadium, taking both games of a twin bill, the first 9-5, and the second 7-3. General Alvin Crowder turned the Yankees back in the first game, while Schoolboy Rowe won the nightcap. The victory gave Rowe his 13th straight victory and ran his season's total to 18 games. Crowder was recently acquired by the Tigers on waivers from the Washington Senators.

'Dizzy' and Paul Quit After Fines, Suspension

Two Cocky Cardinal Hurlers To Go Fishing; Say Club Will Be Awful Sorry.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Dizzy and Paul Dean, star pitchers of the St. Louis Cardinals, were indefinitely suspended late today by Manager Frankie Frisch as an outgrowth of their failure to accompany the Cardinals to Detroit for an exhibition game yesterday.

The suspensions were announced by Frisch after the brothers approached the manager and demanded, "Are we suspended?"

Frisch told Dizzy that he had been fined $100 and Paul $50, but said they had not been suspended, and ordered them to the field. The Deans said they would go "in a few minutes," but Frisch interpreted their actions as meaning they were not going to accept the fines gracefully and told them they were suspended indefinitely.

Dizzy tore up his uniform and the uniform of another player, and said he and Paul would go to Bradenton, Fla., where Dizzy has a home.

"Asked if he 'really meant' he and Paul were going away, Dizzy snorted: 'Yes, if we have enough money coming, after they take those fines out of our pay, we're going on a fishing trip in Florida.'"

"Of course, it's possible they'll remit the fines quickly when they find out how badly they need us. It may be in the seventh inning this afternoon. You can't tell."

Dizzy has won 21 games this season, while losing five. Paul has won 12 and lost 6.

PERRY ENTERS DOUBLES PLAY

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—(AP) When aspirants for the national doubles tennis title line up Saturday at the Germantown Cricket Club to draw for places, Fred Perry, of England, holder of the Wimbledon, Australian, Victorian and United States championships, will be among those present.

The British ace will arrive Thursday with his partner, Fred Wilde, one of England's most promising Davis cup prospects, to begin practice.

Germany's top player, Baron Gottfried von Cramm, the French titlist, is also expected to be in the lists, as is Jack Crawford, Aussie star.

Among the latest entries, Samuel H. Colton, former president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association and chairman of the tourney committee, announced last night, are: Henry Prusoff, of Seattle, and Wilmer Hines, of Columbia, S. C., and Wilbur Hess, of Rice Institute; Daniel Barr, Southern Methodist, and Martin Buxby, University of Texas flash.

CROWDER, ROWE STOP NEW YORK; GEHRINGER HERO

Detroit Wins 14 in Row. Gomez Routed Before 77,000.

By Alan Gould.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The furious rush of the rampant Detroit Tigers—baseball's newest "team of destiny"—carried them to two sensational victories over the New York Yankees today, extended their winning streak to 14 consecutive games and propelled them toward their first American league pennant in a quarter of a century.

Rising to extraordinary heights before one of the greatest crowds in the history of baseball, Mickey Cochrane's spectacular crew routed the great Lefty Gomez to score a 9-5 triumph in the first game and then rounded the Yankees' right-handed Red Ruffing, to capture the second game, 7 to 3, as Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, youthful pitching giant, registered his thirteenth consecutive victory.

Close to 80,000 spectators jammed the Yankee stadium to see the Tigers thrash the remnants of New York's once supreme "murderer's row" and stretch their lead in the American league pennant race to six and one-half games.

A RECORD CROWD.

It was the biggest baseball crowd of the year and the biggest that has been counted in the stadium since the Athletics played the Yankees before 85,265 fans on September 9, 1928. Today's official paid attendance, 77,000, was nevertheless in excess of that registered during the record turnout of six years ago and is the greatest in New York's baseball history.

Not only was the stadium jammed, but it was estimated more than 25,000 were turned away.

The Tigers main rival, an outfit that has won seven championships, that they are now prohibitive favorites to continue their dash pennantwards, riding the crest of the greatest league winning streak since 1916. They have three more games to play with the Yankees here but by making it 14 in a row today, the battering Bengals are within five games of the league's record for consecutive triumphs, set at 19 by the Chicago White Sox in 1906. Meanwhile their young hurling ace, Rowe, is now within three games of the league record for successive victories in the box and he may be asked to try for No. 14 in his final game of this series.

OVERPOWERED.

The Yankees were overpowered in both games by a Tiger attack that simply refused to be subdued by the best pitching the New Yorkers could produce. Gomez was given a five-run lead in the first three innings of the opening game but he blew up after holding Detroit to one hit in five innings and was knocked out of the box by a five-run assault in the sixth.

PITTMAN CHARGES OPPONENT IN PANIC

Candidate at Clarksville Discusses McIntyre Statement about F.D.R.

CLARKESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Judge Claude Pittman today said there was "panic in the house of Talmadge" that led to an airplane trip to Washington by a "silk-shirt emissary" who was given a statement that the president was taking no part in state politics.

Referring to a trip to Washington made by Robert Clay, president of the Fulton National bank, who was given a formal statement by Marvin McIntyre, secretary to the president, that Mr. Roosevelt was taking no part in the politics of any state, Judge Pittman said the "panic in the house of Talmadge" was caused by a "revolt of public sentiment against the governor's opposition to Roosevelt."

He said the president knew it was "not necessary to call on the people of Georgia to back the New Deal."

Speaking here Judge Pittman said the president had asked every citizen to aid in bringing about recovery and then charged that Talmadge had helped.

"Every official act of our governor connected with the New Deal has been deliberately intended to obstruct the program," he said.

"Not by a longshot," Talmadge picked out one of the "silk-shirt crowd" he has been accusing from every stump in the campaign; one of the "big bulls" whom he says are trying to keep him from being re-elected.

"This Talmadge emissary hustled off to the national capital. He couldn't get there fast enough on land, so he took an airplane, but he didn't even get to lay his eyes on President Roosevelt."

"The president's secretary met him in the hall and told him that the president was not dipping into state politics anywhere in the United States."

"Of course the president is not electing anyone for me or anybody else. The president knows that the people of Georgia who are friendly with him in his recovery program will support the men who are backing him in his efforts to relieve human suffering."

Judge Pittman reiterated a "challenge" to the governor to make peace with the president's recovery program, which he said was the best correspondence with the president's recovery program at the time when the CWA was being handled directly from Washington.

Governor Refuses To Send Troops To Quell Baldwin Barbershop Row

Governor Talmadge Tuesday turned down two requests that he assume charge of situations growing out of the textile strike in Muscogee county and a reported "disorder" in Habersham county, growing out of rivalry between two barber shops in the city of Baldwin, which reports said has divided the town into two almost warring factions.

Thomas F. McMahon, of New York, president of the United Textile Workers of America, telegraphed the governor urging him to direct a prosecution following a killing in the Columbus strike area, but the governor said that he would leave the matter in the hands of Muscogee authorities. "They are amply able to handle the situation," he telegraphed Mr. McMahon.

The request to send the national guard to Baldwin came from four prominent citizens of the town. The governor got in touch with Sheriff C. P. Wilbanks at Clarksville and after receiving assurance from him that there would be no violence told the Baldwin people that he would leave the entire matter in the hands of the sheriff.

BALDWIN DISORDERS
BALDWIN, Ga., Aug. 14.—(AP)—193 persons today carried their differences over payment of city taxes, amounting to approximately $5 to Governor Talmadge with request for relief.

TALMADGE RALLY HELD AT ATHENS

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 14.—Several hundred citizens of Athens, Clarke county and surrounding counties tonight filled council chamber of city hall to capacity and overflowed into the streets to hear speakers discuss the campaign of Governor Eugene Talmadge for re-election.

W. W. Scott, president of the Clarke county Talmadge-for-Governor Club, presided over the meeting and introduced the speakers, the first of whom was Judge W. W. Armistead, of Crawford. He declared Talmadge had done for Georgia what any governor in history has done for any state, and said justice demanded a second term in office.

J. H. Shackelford, Athens attorney, said the governor had under 30 charges against Talmadge which he was ready to counter with 30 accomplishments worth more than the 30 life questions Mr. Pittman wanted the governor to answer. He would not have time to do anything else during the campaign.

Shackelford severely condemned the "gross and villanous and vicious" charges which he said the Pittman forces are carrying on. He charged Pittman, if defeated, was to be taken care of by the vest of the pardon racket charge, he said "the governor could have gotten a half million to pardon Harsh and Gallagher if he had wanted it. Why stoop over for him money, if he was that kind of man?"

Other speakers included O. H. Arnold, former legislator; Mrs. Julius U. Talmadge, cousin of the governor; W. H. Flanagan, Clarke farmer; Mrs. W. W. Armistead, Crawford; Young David, James L. McElroy, Joe Nunnally, Claude Mahaffey, Clyde Basham, Talmadge Club secretary, and Frank Shackelford.

Several of the speakers reminded the voters that "Clarke county needs the University of Georgia to support the life of Athens and for that reason needs Governor Talmadge, his son a former student here, his son is now much worse than Governor Talmadge needs Clarke county."

TWO FULTON CONVICTS ESCAPE FROM CAMP
POWERSVILLE, Ga., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Two white convicts, using a state truck, escaped this morning from the state camp here. The men are Winford Sanders, about 25 years old, serving a three-year sentence, and Theodore Gray, about 21 years old, serving 20 years. Both men were from Fulton county.

The truck used in the get-away was found abandoned by guards about six miles from the camp on the Robertta-Fort Valley highway late in the day.

4 ESCAPED CONVICTS CAUGHT IN MERIWETHER
GRIFFIN, Ga., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Four long-term convicts today were captured between Atlanta and Meriwether county, following their escape yesterday from the Spalding county chain gang camp by saving their way through the floor of their truck.

Officers said all four were dressed in civilian clothes when caught by a posse which had searched for them since their escape. They were back in prison garb shortly after being returned to the camp this morning.

Meriwether county citizens co-operated with Spalding officers in the search. Officers said the four escaping were Floyd Collins, Edison Cobb, Lynch Smith and Ernest Payne. They were serving terms from 5 to 20 years. Collins, officers said, was serving a 20-year sentence for highway robbery from Fulton county.

LOW FARES INCREASE RAILROADS' INCOME
COLUMBUS, Ga., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Reductions in railroad passenger fares have brought increases in revenue, but not to the extent hoped for, it was said here by H. D. Holland, receiver of the Central of Georgia railroad.

He said that in the month of June the Central of Georgia's passenger revenue was "materially" higher than in June of 1933 when the higher rates were in effect.

"A particularly regrettable feature of the limited increase in passenger revenue," he added, "is that it has not been possible for the railroads to increase their forces by putting on more trains, and thus give employment to additional conductors, engineers, firemen, flagmen, etc. The number of passenger trains in Georgia is the same as it was before the reductions went into effect."

W. J. GRACE RETIRES FROM BIBB HOUSE RACE
MACON, Ga., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Walter J. Grace has withdrawn as a candidate for the state legislature from Bibb county. He said pressure of business caused his withdrawal.

Eight candidates remain in the race. They are Charles Bowden, Fred New, B. B. Renitz, Harry Nottingham, Luther Woodworth, R. H. Freeman Jr., A. E. Gilmore and John P. Scott.

Woman Legislator Unopposed in Long
LUDOWIC, Ga., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Williams Coxon, "The Lady from Long," in the statehouse of representatives, will have no opposition in the September primary.

The close date for qualifying announced without any candidate appearing as an opponent of Mrs. Coxon, who has served one term in the lower house. Mrs. Coxon is the wife of Thomas Ald Coxon and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Williams, of this city. She has been prominent in civic movements in Long county.

GILLIAM PUSHES PROHIBITION ISSUE

Candidate Asks Opponents To Declare Position on State Repeal.

OCCILLA, Ga., Aug. 14.—Ed A. Gilliam, candidate for governor, in a speech this afternoon in the Irwin county courthouse in this city, reiterated his challenge to Governor Talmadge and Judge Pittman to take a stand on the question of repealing the Georgia bone-dry prohibition law.

"Governor Talmadge has industriously built up the idea that he knows no fear," said Mr. Gilliam. "He would have you believe that he fears no man, fears no group or interest, however powerful they may be, and fears no question or public issue that may come before him. He has clothed himself with the reputation of being a rough rider who rides down anything or anybody that stands in his way and won't get out of it, or fail to get out quick enough."

"Governor Talmadge has all kinds of courage when it comes to holding up the appropriation of some department on the bench. Before his election he was a member of the Georgia legislature and he doesn't like it. He's got plenty of courage when it comes to using the bayonet and loaded rifles in time of peace against peaceful citizens. But you ask him to commit himself on some highly controversial and supposedly real hot question like prohibition and watch him immediately take to the bushes."

"Probably no judge in Georgia has tried more liquor cases than Judge Gilliam, during the period of his service on the bench. Before his election to the bench he was solicitor-general of his circuit several years and prosecuted a great many liquor cases. Therefore, he knows the subject both from the standpoint of a prosecutor and the standpoint of a judge."

"What does Judge Pittman think about the bone-dry law? Does he think it can be enforced and should be kept on the statute books? Or does he think all attempts to enforce it have failed and broken down, and that disrespect for this law has created more or less a general disrespect for all law, and that it should be repealed?"

At Miss Wilder's

The Quota Club meets on August 25, with Miss Laura Wilder at her home on Briarcliff road. Miss Wilder, a member of the club, is one of the few successful women to operate her own dairy. After an inspection of the dairy farm, dinner will be served to the members.

This was one of the announcements made by Dr. Amey Chappelle, president, who presided over the meeting held Monday evening at the Frances Virginia tea room. She announced that the regular fall activities of the club will be resumed in September. Misses Hattie Rainwater, Margaret Wadd, and Mrs. Pauline Grayson will have charge of the program for that month.

Miss Jean Carson, chairman of the endowment fund, outlined several unique methods to enlarge that fund, which was created to aid worthy girls in securing an education. Miss Emma Wesley, one of the delegates to the convention of the Quota International, read a report of that session, held in Hot Springs, Va. The report proved so interesting that it was filed in the year-book. GOOD GIRL

By PEGGY GADDIS.

INSTALLMENT XXIX.

"It won't get you nothin' to put on the baby-face act with me, sister. I never mix women and business! That's how I happen to be Gordon's right-hand man!" he warned her. "You're here, and you know you're here, because you won't play ball with the boss. And it only proves you're a sap, because if you try to hold out against the boss, it's gonna cost you a lot of trouble. If you do—well, you'll have a pocket full of jack, and a lot of time to enjoy it. So why not get up to yourself, and help the boss go through with this little stunt? After all, Stanley's filthy with jack—he'll never miss the little nick the boss is going to put in his bank roll—with or without your services! How about it, eh?"

"No!" said Calissa, hotly, swiftly. "I'd rather die!"

Jake's face darkened and his eyes narrowed a little, a cruel thing etching itself about his mouth. He shrugged, and said, carefully casual, "And you might, at that, you know, sister! Such things have been known to happen, you know!"

Terror closed an iron hand about Calissa's trembling heart and squeezed it until she all but cried out with the physical pain of it. She shrank from the man before her, her face paling, her eyes wide and fearful.

"You—you—don't mean that—you're—you're—only—trying to—frighten me! You'd never dare try to—kill me!" she stammered, faintly. "Oh, it would be done in such a way that no one would think of murder—that's too crude and unrefined for the boss!" he returned carelessly though his eyes watched her narrowly, hawk-like. "But suppose a gal who was using a guy for a lot of coin got cold feet—maybe on a wild party she had too much to drink—maybe she 'borrowed' some body's main place for a little pre-decision celebration, and—took a nose dive out of one of those good-byes there—leaving, of course, a good-bye note behind to explain that it was suicide—well, you can see yourself how it would look!"

Calissa was paper-white, sick and shaken, her nerves on edge. She glanced toward those casement windows that overhung the mountain-side, and as clearly as though she looked out of that window, she visualized that hideous drop—down—down—down—her eyes wide and a little moist.

Jake, watching her, told himself shrewdly that in another hour or so she'd be ready to listen to reason. He knew how to handle dames like this! It was a cinch.

"Better think it over, sister!" he advised after a moment. "You can see for yourself that no matter how the suit goes, now, the boss would never let you out of here—alive—unless you were mixed up enough in the suit to keep your mouth shut forever after! If you help him put it over, and take your little cut, then it's a cinch you'll keep your mouth shut. If you don't—well, the minute you get away from here you'd spill everything you know and a lot you only guess—and it would be curtains for the boss and the rest of us! So—you can see how it is! Either you string along with us—or—else!"

And he nodded towards the open casement window with an ugly significance that sickened Calissa. He turned to the door behind him.

She heard the click of the key in the lock, and then footsteps crossing a polished floor—and then silence.

She glanced towards the glassed-in side of the veranda, and shuddered and turned her face away. The horror of falling through that window—it caught her by the throat and shook her as a dog shakes a rat. She drew up on a chair, turned its back to the windows, and huddled in it, her face hidden in her hands.

She could save her life at the cost of endless humiliation. At the cost of pillorying herself and Kent before the amused, contemptuous, malicious eyes of the world. She could "string along" with Gordon, let him use her as a puppet, to wring a huge sum of money from Kent—and to make Kent, as long as she lived, think her cheap and common and low. Or—she could go out of life, now, just when the savor of it was sweetest on her lips. For even though Kent was lost to her, life was still sweet. She had thought, yesterday afternoon when Kent had told her that he was through with her, that she wanted to die. But she knew now, as she stood face to face with death, that she didn't want to die. She wanted to live. Life held a great many pleasant things for her, even though love was not to be one of those things.

She wanted to live—wanted terribly to live. But—did she want to pay the price for life that this—brute—demanded? To stand in a court of law, to tell the world that she loved Kent, and that he had loved her, and now refused to marry her—to sit beside Gordon in court, and hear Kent's letters, stolen from her room, read aloud to a grinning jury, and to a crowd of jeering, sniggering, whispering people—to look into Kent's eyes and see there his disgust and loathing—

She knew, in that soul-searching moment as she huddled in her chair, facing the decision that Jake had demanded, that she had not given up hope that Kent would understand, and that he would come back to her. He must believe her—she must! She had been guilty of no crime save an impulsive, almost childish confidence in Norman, and in Myrtle—a confidence that had led her into the damaging position in which Kent had found her. Somehow, some way, Kent would be convinced of that. He loved her—he knew that he would not have been so quick to believe Johnny Ainsworth and Robert Gordon if he had not loved her so much that he was insanely jealous. There was hope—hope. But—after this suit was filed? If she obeyed Gordon—her heart sank at the prospect!

Yet—if she did not obey Gordon? What good for Kent to discover that she had been true and faithful to him—after she was dead? She shuddered at the thought.

The morning dragged by, and Jake

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

OLD-TIME FIRE FIGHTING.

A century ago people did not work in "skyscrapers"; but there were some buildings several stories high. These buildings, largely hotels, were likely to be "fire traps," since they seldom had outdoor fire escapes of any kind.

Firemen's ladders of many kinds have been invented, some of them short and fitted so that they can be "hooked" to window ledges.

In thousands of cases, firemen have saved lives by the use of ladders. As one little example we may take the case of a woman who was trapped on the seventh floor of a New York hotel in 1890. She screamed for help, and the firemen set up a long ladder, which reached to the fifth floor. The fire chief and two men carried short "scaling ladders" up the long, shaky ladder, and fitted them to window ledges. One man at last reached the seventh story, and with great danger to himself carried the woman down toward a narrow ledge at the fifth story. Just before he got to that ledge, the lower part of one of the scaling ladders broke off; and if the fire chief had not been there to steady them, they would almost surely have fallen to their death.

As it was, they came safely to the ledge. When the woman caught her breath, she said that someone ought to go back to the seventh story of the burning building to save her pet dog. The fire chief told her that the first duty was to take her safely to the ground. Then all went down the long, shaky ladder.

Hotels and other tall buildings of modern kind have metal stairways on the outside, and these make excellent fire escapes.

Parent and Child

"Children of the best parents are often the worst," says an old proverb. Best is not in terms of parenthood, however, but in relation to social adaptation, as generally approved. It is distressing to see so many children growing up who don't indicate in their home or neighborhood a high degree of what we usually call good citizenship—especially growing up in homes whose parents had been trained in wholesome inhibitions when they were children, and who now themselves are highly esteemed adult citizens.

It is true, I guess, that the average child in the more well-to-do neighborhoods is a better citizen than the average child in the poorer sections. But we are appalled at the large number of children in the suburban areas who don't seem to have learned at home the alphabet of good citizenship, in terms of regard for the rights and possessions of others. Vandalism by children living in "good" neighborhoods is not at all unusual these days. Teachers in the schools of some of the "better" residential areas will tell you that the sons of the suburban fathers have very little regard for authority.

The other day, the campfire committee of a large city was discussing a serious control problem with certain groups in the five "best" suburbs. "They will break up furniture and raise bedlam," was the consensus of the group. A certain religious educator in a wealthy area revealed to me his worry at the disrespect for church property revealed by the children in his Sunday school.

As measured by school, economic, educational standards, these children come from highly favored homes. A large percentage of the parents are professional persons, business and civic leaders in the metropolitan area. Most of them from old-line families with cherished traditions—back of them. What traditions will come of

For 20 or more years the doctrine of no restraint, and caution against restraint in the early years, before children can be reasoned with, has been most readily embraced by this type of parent. Yes, by the parent of superior educational training and economic and social opportunity. Not by

In part it has been my honest conviction; in part, however, from the unconscious urge to gain feeling of superiority. "Let the poor and the foreign-born parents restrain their children. They don't know any better and probably never will. But with our intelligence and family traditions and family name and standard in the neighborhood, we are going to let our children enjoy freedom. Through reason we shall lead them to see the advantages they have over other children, and although they might be a little unruly in their early childhood, they just naturally will choose to become respected citizens."

Has their trust merely to reason and the magic of a family name and superior economic surroundings been warranted by the facts? Why not write what you think about the matter to the editor of this paper. He might want to print it.

Food Prices Soaring in Nation As Drouth Diminishes Supplies

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press.)
CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Food prices are soaring in the United States, a United Press survey indicated tonight, with the peak still some distance away. The drouth, which made vast inroads into food supplies, is beginning to be felt in homes from California to Massachusetts. Thrifty housewives have started buying against further price increases. No actual hoarding has been noted in major cities but the larders are being filled.

Meanwhile, leading national distributors of canned foods admit they are buying in the open market, at a premium, because of general expectation of higher prices and possibility of some shortages. One company is buying on a 30-day supply basis now as against a previous policy of a 30-day supply.

But it is the housewife, the United Press survey showed, who is now most concerned about rising prices. Instances of this are shown in the following:

St. Paul grocers reported housewives are complaining about higher prices.

Kansas City (Mo.) grocers report canned goods sales are about 10 per cent heavier than normal.

Chicago grocers report wholesale prices rapidly are climbing "out of sight."

Dallas grocers report canned goods—such as tomatoes, corn and peas—have advanced during the drouth from 10 to 70 per cent.

The old reliable of "meat and potatoes"—the staple menu of most households—is receiving the biggest boost at the moment. Potatoes are stationary but meats are climbing rapidly. In Boston, for instance, sirloin steak has jumped from 45 to 60 cents a pound since May 1; in New

BANKERS GIVE SUPPORT TO HOME REPAIR DRIVE

Atlanta Institutions Invite

FHA Representative.

An invitation for applications for loans for repairing and remodeling homes was issued Tuesday by Atlanta clearing house banks' coincidental with the announcement in Washington that Haynes McFadden, of Atlanta, secretary of the Georgia Bankers' Association, had been appointed state representative of the Federal housing administration.

The clearing house banks, the First National, the Citizens & Southern National, the Fulton National and the Trust Company of Georgia, have put their facilities behind the federal housing administration and will make character loans for repairing and remodeling homes.
